Wedding Bells.

There was a very pretty wedding service at the home of Geo. F. Dyer, in Sumner, Wednesday evening, June 14; the contracting parties were Leland J. Andrews and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dyer, Editha May Dyer. Only the near relatives were present. The ring service was used by Rev. J. H. Little of South Paris. At 9 p. m., as the wedding march was played, the bride and groom entered the prettily decorated parlor accompanied by the bridesmaids and bridesmaid. The service was soon over and the cordial greetings of the friends were followed by merry-making games till a late hour. Refreshments were served, and the young couple started on their journey under the most happy circumstances.

NEWRY.

Gave His Life to Save His Friend.
An extremely sad fatality, by which two young men of the city of Vancouver, B. C., lost their lives Wednesday afternoon, June 7th, occurred on the Squamish river. The victims are Arthur Fulk, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Fulk of Vancouver, and Angus Kilgore, 19 years old, son of L. W. Kilgore of North Newry.

The drowning is said to have occurred about 13 miles up the river, the young men being engaged in putting logs into the water at a large slough. At the time the accident occurred young Fulk was standing on a boom, when he slipped off the logs and fell into the water. Kilgore was on the bank, and on seeing his friend fall in the water jumped in and struck bravely out towards him to save him if he could. That was the last seen of either, and it is thought that possibly in their struggles to get back on the boom both must have gone to the bottom.

The foreman of the camp, who was standing on the top of a knoll about 100 yards back, saw the young men disappear into the water, and hurried down the skidway towards them. When he reached the boom both had disappeared. The water was not deep and he took a long pole and tried to bring the bodies to the surface. He had almost succeeded in bringing Fulk's body up when the pole slipped, and he was thrown into the water. He got to shore again, and summoned help. The water was only about 10 feet deep and not very cold, and it was not a difficult matter to bring the bodies up and place them ashore.

The friends of Mr. Kilgore conducted the necessary funeral arrangements. The large crowd of sympathizers present testified to the universal admiration of the brave deed which cost the deceased his life.

Mrs. Harlan Bartlett is in poor health. Mrs. A. W. Powers is about the same. Lon Smith and family went to North-west Bethel, Sunday, to visit his mother, Mrs. J. Smith.

Mrs. Lucretia Bartlett from Sunday River, who has been to Rumford a few weeks, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. H. Powers.

WEST BETHEL.

Bridge Broke Down.
While passing the highway in the town of Mason, in crossing the bridge near the schoolhouse with road machine and six horses and men who handled the machine, the bridge broke down and bridge with its load went into the river, falling about 15 feet. Press Bennett, the driver, was injured, being cut and scratched about the face and bruised in several places. It was a narrow escape for him.

John B. Murphy is cutting wood for Henry Cross.

Geo. Murphy has been working on the railroad a few days, recently.

There is to be a dance at Bell's hall, in this village, next Saturday evening.

George H. Goodnow went to Gorham, N. H., on the excursion last Sunday.

The mill of N. R. Springer & Co. has been shut down a few days, for repairs.

Chas. Stanton has moved his barn, making quite an improvement in the looks of the place.

A. P. Cummings is the happy owner of another fine young colt.

Mrs. Sarah Witham is staying for a short time with Mrs. Chas. Lovejoy.

HARRISON.

Another Smart Aged Lady.

One of the smart old ladies not mentioned in your recently published list is Mrs. Walker, the mother of Lincoln Walker, who lives on Davis Hill. She is 92 years old and a very interesting person to visit and converse with. She takes pleasure in reading, and other handiwork done with as much taste and neatness as that of any other younger woman.

Last week she spent several days with her grandson, Wilson Walker, and F. W. T. up to spend the afternoon with Nancy Hobbs. Not a very long distance 20 or 25 rods perhaps, but longer than most of us will take at 92.

German measles are prevalent. Philip Pitts of Bangor is in town. S. C. and J. C. Smith spent last week in Boston.

Mrs. Annette Kimball is visiting her friends in Pennsylvania.

New sidewalks are being laid on some of the streets and others are being repaired.

Harrison's graduates from Bridgton Academy were Guy E. Davis, George Buck and Alfred Smith.

Children's day will be observed at Baptist church, Sunday morning, and at the Congregational church in the evening.

Base ball enthusiasm is at white heat. Harrison defeated the Bolsters' Mills in Chadbourne field, Saturday afternoon, 13 to 4.

NORTH WATERFORD.

New Disease Among Young People.

June boxes are prevalent and quite contagious.

Village schools close, this week.

Mrs. Fred Stone of Norway is at her father's, John F. Rice's.

Will Holt and Robert Manning are home from North Bridgton.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It checks falling hair, and always restores color to gray hair. A splendid dressing also. Sold for over sixty years.

"My hair came out so badly I nearly lost it all. I had heard so much about Ayer's Hair Vigor I thought I would give it a trial. I did so and it completely stopped the falling, and made my hair grow very rapidly."—MARY H. FIELD, Northfield, Mass.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, such as eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility.

How are they expelled? By

Hood's Sarsaparilla

which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.

audience in the evening. The next morning, however, they decided to "pull up stakes" and move on to the next town where that night a report came over the wire that a "row" was going on.

The drama by the grammar school

last Thursday evening was in every way a success. They received as proceeds about $24, which will go into the treasury of the School Improvement League.

School closed Friday a very successful term. Miss Swett does not expect to return, and she, together with Miss Bradbury, her assistant, presented each scholar with a photograph of themselves, taken together. In return, the league, to show their appreciation of her kindness, help and forbearance with them, presented her with a very fine fountain pen.

An Instructive Meeting.

Mrs. Etta Kimball entertained The Woman's Library club at her home on Wednesday, June 14, program:

Song.....Mrs. Iva Fox

Dante.....Mrs. Lillian Mason

Poem, Dante.....Mrs. Elia Charles

Talk on Florence, Italy.....Miss Pickering

Piano solo.....Mrs. Hatch

This was a very pleasant and instructive meeting. Mrs. Kimball served refreshments and the talk by Miss Pickering was a rare intellectual treat. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. B. Keniston, Wednesday,

June 28, subject Michael Angelo.

S. F. Heald of Trus, Walker & Heald, is at the Center store where he will be during the summer.

Weeman McAllister is at home a few days from Jefferson, N. H., where he is working for the summer.

The rain of last week raised the water in the streams so that quite a business was done in driving the logs.

Father Kemp and family were in town recently making arrangements for an evening here this week. It has been many years since they first came to this way.

The ell of the parsonage at the village was shingled last week, and other improvements are being made. The well that was drilled last year, 47 feet deep, affords plenty of excellent water, clear and cold.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

An Expert in His Business.

Shirley Brown of Waterford has been employed in the Oxford paper mill at Rumford Falls. He helped set up and operated the first evaporator in that mill.

Last April he was sent to Pennsylvania to set up a similar machine in a manufactory, and in New Orleans. June 8, he went to Oregon, Texas for the same purpose, where a paper mill was to be started.

Mr. Brown has shown much ability in that direction. It is said that he operated the first evaporator in the state. It is gratifying to learn of the prosperity of our Waterford boys.

Harold Kimball took a fine string of

The Way of the World.
The way of the world is a humorous way. A pretty good way as we find it. The world is a joke, and life is a joke. There is surely no reason to mind it. The joke is on us as a general rule. Why then, make us unhappy? For saving your presence, there's many a fool. Besides you, who gets sold and feels scrappy. The way of the world is a general way. It is mostly, my dear, what we make it. And we get what we give, whatever we say. Therefore if we don't like to take it. We better give more of our trust and best. With soul, heart and sympathy, labor. When neighbors kindness awakes in your breast. You will find the whole world a good neighbor.
The way of the world is the way of yourself. Get wisdom, the world will be wiser. And don't keep your sympathy laid on a shelf. Nor hidden like wealth of the miser. Improve, and the world will grow better at once.
For what is the world but us people? If you cannot see that you are surely a dunce. It is plain as a church and its steeple. So if you object to the way of the world, You better not say much about it. It's but your reflection about you safe furred. So matter how much you may doubt it. You will find what you seek of the good or the bad.
You really control the whole matter; For the way of the world, be it gloomy or glad Is the fruitage of seeds that we scatter.

NEVER NEGLECT EVERY-DAY ILLS.

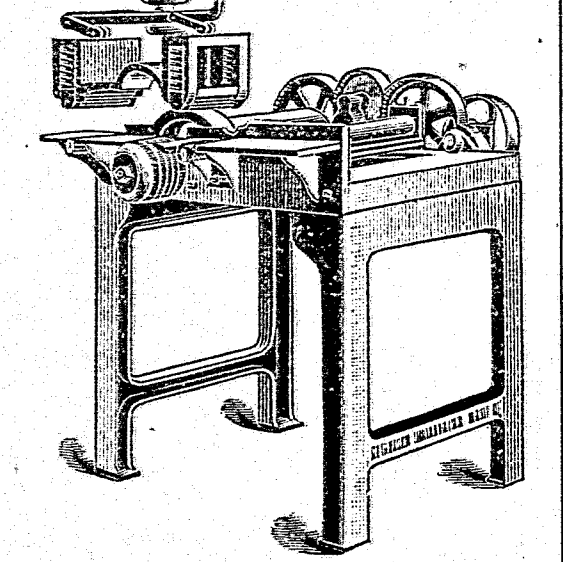

A cold is one of the everyday ills of life. People of all ages, in summer and in winter, are liable to catch cold, and a cold is always dangerous because a cold is but the beginning of catarrh of some internal organ—head, lungs, stomach or pelvic organs. Any remedy that will cure a cold should cure the many effects of a cold. That's why Smith's Triple Cure is so popular, why people are so enthusiastic after experiencing its wonderful curative power. Smith's Triple Cure promptly cures colds and catarrh wherever located, because it acts directly on the depressed nerve centres, giving strength and vigor to tired nerves, removing the congestion of the circulation and imparting renewed vitality to the mucous membranes.
Picture to yourself the horrors of bronchial catarrh—the terrible cough, disgusting expectoration, wheezy breath and loss of strength, or the tortures of female catarrh—the swollen bowels, shooting pains, offensive discharges, displacements and burning distress, and then realize, if you can, how thankful these sufferers are for Smith's Triple Cure which has delivered them out of their troubles. Is it any wonder that Smith's Triple Cure is rapidly displacing all other catarrh treatments in hospitals and sanitariums and is prescribed by the medical profession generally? It meets a want felt for centuries, yet not now in this strenuous life of ours as never before. Smith's Triple Cure cures catarrh sufferers of all ages, makes the sick well and the weak strong; it builds up healthy digestion, makes strong nerves and enriches the blood. That's why all the world is praising it, why its magical curative power is talked about in the homes and on the streets. Smith's Triple Cure consists of four separate preparations, three remedies taken internally acting on the mucous membranes, stomach, liver and digestive organs, purifying and enriching the blood, and a catarrh cream used locally in allaying all inflammation and killing all disease germs in the nasal passages, throat and lungs, a full two weeks' treatment of combined remedies, sold for only 50 cents by all dealers, the greatest value for the money ever offered. If your druggist won't supply you, send 25 two-cent stamps by mail today, and we will send it postpaid and guarantee safe delivery. Address W. F. Smith Co., 125 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

Among the Fashions.

For June, "Endless variety." They well describe the season's dress fabrics in plain, fancy and novelty weaves, affording an almost unlimited range of choice. Soft delicate fabrics of silk and wool are in vogue for gowns and waists, and lace embroidery and applique are lavishly used for these dressy costumes.

Landsdowne is an eminently popular weave of clear bright luster and fine soft texture, fashioning a costume of beauty and effectiveness, and not only handsome in appearance but of excellent wearing qualities and distinct style and elegance in an attractive variety of colorings. There is no more beautiful material than this queen of fabrics, Landsdowne.

Mercerized weaves so wonderfully like silken fabrics, varied in color and attractive styles and colors; in wash goods Park hill weaves in new and attractive designs are established in popular favor, and are not only daintily beautiful but are absolutely fast in colors, thus taking front rank for fashionable garments, useful, attractive and durable.

With the varied openwork materials, a foundation skirt is necessary and Pres de sole in black, white, cream and all the popular reds, blues, pinks, greens and grays, (straw and evening shades) is taking lead as the ideal fabric for slip skirts and petticoats; it is much like taffeta and at one-third the price bids fair to outlive richer and more expensive weaves. In elaborate models and varied colorings, linen suits are in favor for street and dressy costumes.

Shirt waist suits have attained increased popularity with lace, ribbon, medallions, etc., for trimming and decorative effect. In modish shades and plain and figured effects, an almost innumerable array of lovely weaves of silk are found, while in the ever popular black silks, Money-bak weaves are established in popular favor and hold most attractive possibilities for fashioning toilettes of richness and beauty.

Flowered organdies, gerardines and batists are dainty and beautiful for the graduation gown.

Attractive styles in the separate skirt unfailingly appeal to the feminine mind. Sebasticook models are winning encomiums of praise in attractive shapes, exceedingly desirable and modish in weave and style and workmanship. Gloves accord with the gown and occasion upon which they are worn. The white glove remains in form for dress. We find the Regnier in all the popular shades, and the glove bearing the stamp Regnier is extremely popular and eminently desirable. ALICE CARROLL.

Memorial Day.

Another year has borne us along upon its tide, and once again we stand with bared heads in the hallowed presence of our fallen heroes.
From each of these silent mounds a tongue might speak to us of the greatest sacrifice in the annals of history.
One million of men, the best blood of our land, thrown between the millstones of war, that from out of past oppressions and passions, light, liberty and all the blessings of freedom we now enjoy, was the grisly ground out by merciless Civil war.

Now, fellow citizens, as we gaze over this broad and beautiful land, its hills and valleys once more being kissed into light by Nature's sweet breath, do we in sober thought and judgment measure out in just appreciation what all this inheritance has cost, the tears, the blood and heartaches to maintain it?
Every loyal American should at times search within his own soul, be quickened in larger and greater scope what it means to be an American. With its narrow and bustling confines of our business life we seldom pause to think of else save these matters of dollars and cents. These material things are right and proper in a certain degree, but in their excess are not we, as a nation, fast losing sight of better things in our haste for wealth and gain, which has even been the bane of national and moral progress and worth.

Did these men lying so silently in earth's bosom place worldly gain before principle, home and country?
Did they make a mental calculation of the power to be gained when they carried their bloody and tattered flag up the shell-swept slopes of Fredericksburg? No! A thousand noes!
Did our Saviour, when shown all the kingdoms of the world as his, reckon His glory by these? No!
Every man who fell in the conflict covered himself with endless glory; those who came through war's awful hell should be deemed worthy disciples of the Divine for they did and would have given all for the love of right and justice, the fruits of which you and I this day enjoy.

Now let me entreat you by all that is right and true to be on this day a humble and contrite mourner, kneeling on this our nation's altar, and making vows within your own hearts that the principles for which these men died shall ever be maintained by you, your children, and children's children.
Gladly, we reverently place upon each mound earth's fairest garlands, and around your hearts entwined again and again the vine of patriotism, fidelity and truth to all for which these men died.
America, redeemed by the blood of her martyrs, even as the world by the blood of Christ, these men are worthy to be seated on the right hand of the throne of the Most High!

America! The torch-bearer to other nations, let not this year be extinguished, for all eyes look to thee for guidance, and who but true and loyal hearts must lead the world aright?
White dresses look cool, but they make a lot of hot work for somebody, not always the one who wears them.

New Launch for Mazalloway.

Walter Buckman, of Wilson's Mills, has recently purchased in Portland a new gasoline launch to be placed in the waters of the Magalloway river and Parthenes Lake. The launch is twenty-five feet long and a fine model and will prove a great addition to the season's pleasures for tourists who visit that section. Mr. Buckman is a noted guide in the Magalloway region.

More Power to be Developed.

Considerable interest is being manifested in this vicinity in the proposed development of the water power on the Androscoggin river about five miles below Bethel village and opposite Newry Corner. R. J. Virgin of Rumford Falls, and others have purchased the farm of Frank J. Russell. This farm is situated on the river and has the storage rights which are desired for the building of a dam at this point for the development of the power.

Norway, Maine.

After Many Years.
Forty-three years ago Faustina Leavitt of Turner taught school in the Morrill schoolhouse in Sumner. One of her pupils was Royal C. Thompson, and as had happened before in human affairs, they formed an attachment and finally an engagement.
Shortly after this she had an offer of a position in Wisconsin and went there to teach. There another of the peculiarities of human nature asserted itself and she married and settled on a farm in Minnesota. Thompson very wisely recovered from his disappointment, and in the course of time found himself in Minnesota.
Now, to come to the climax by a long jump. She had lost her husband and he his wife, each having four children, and they have crossed each other's track and were married, June 13, at River Falls, Wis.

Nan, The Mascotte.

The show of the season will be presented by local talent under the auspices of the First Universalist church at the Norway Opera House, Thursday and Friday, July 20 and 21. Nan, The Mascotte is a rural drama in four acts full of amusing situations and dramatic clashes together with an abundance of comedy.
The cast, as will be seen below, is a strong one and has been thoroughly and carefully drilled in their respective parts by F. J. McCarty, which is a sufficient guarantee that no minor detail has been overlooked and that every important feature will be fully brought out. The cast is as follows:
Daniel Baldwin, the Mascotte, Mrs. H. E. Fife.
Edna Bicknell, a maid, Mrs. M. J. Kimball.
Harry S. Newcomb, the villain, known on the stage as Prince Crabtree, Edward A. Goudard.
Edward Delaney Van Spread, who becomes a great winner, Ralph I. Trask.
Trask's fool, Ralph I. Trask.
Smartweed, a standing pillar of the church, Fred Moore.
John Sherwood, a young man with aspirations, Fred Moore.
Victor Winslow, Baldwin's family physician, H. E. Fife.
Edna Fox, a lawyer, F. J. McCarty.
Nan, the heroine, F. J. McCarty.
Baldwin, who seeks a position in society, F. J. McCarty.
Van Spread, who wishes to make an advantageous match for Edna, F. J. McCarty.
Jehonette, who has designs on the deacon, Mrs. C. S. Aker.
Music by Stearns' orchestra.
